

Curriculum Guidance: PSHE

Curriculum guidance for years 1 to 6 including learning objectives and whole school curriculum map.

PSHE at Field View

Intent:

To deliver a fully inclusive PSHE curriculum, that will maximise the outcomes for every child and lead them to:

- Healthy relationships
- Digital resilience
- Aspiration

Implementation

PSHE is taught through a range of headings (these being the same across both key stages) using a mixture of subject centered curriculum design and student centred curriculum design. Some areas of PSHE need subjects to be covered in a specific way: e.g. nurses delivering puberty lessons, lessons about managing risks in everyday life and facts about internet use and safety.

Other areas of PSHE are taught in a more student centred curriculum design, in which children investigate their own feelings and responses to relationships, wellbeing and their interaction with the world around them.

Impact

When the children leave the school, we want them to have a positive attitude about themselves and a good understanding of how their physical and mental wellbeing impacts on their ability to have positive relationships in the wider community which and raises their aspirations for their own future.

Staff will:

- Teach 1 hour of dedicated PSHE lessons per week.
- Be aware of any sensitive issues that may affect individual pupils
- Ensure children are aware of class rules regarding confidentiality
- Report any disclosures made during lessons as soon as possible
- Use resources provided, adapting to their class/pupils needs

¹ Teaching about FGM could be included in units on health, keeping safe, safe relationships, privacy, body parts (including external genitalia). See our Addressing FGM in schools information sheet for further information

² Pupils are often aware that sexual intercourse does not always result in a baby and they may already be aware of or have heard about some common methods of contraception (e.g. condoms, the contraceptive pill or avoiding sexual intercourse). A basic understanding of contraception can be taught at primary level. This may include basic information about common forms of contraception (for example, condoms and the contraceptive pill) and how these can prevent a baby being made. Schools will need to decide whether this is appropriate for their community and cohorts and consider how to approach this as part of Sex Education.
